

READ MORE

Eight CEAT students selected as Seniors of Significance

Eight College of Engineering, Architecture and Technology students have been selected as Oklahoma State University Seniors of Significance for the 2024-2025 academic year by the OSU Alumni Association. The Seniors of Significance Award recognizes students who truly exemplify and embody the Cowboy Code.

READ MORE

CVM, CEAT team up to treat spinal cord injuries in dogs

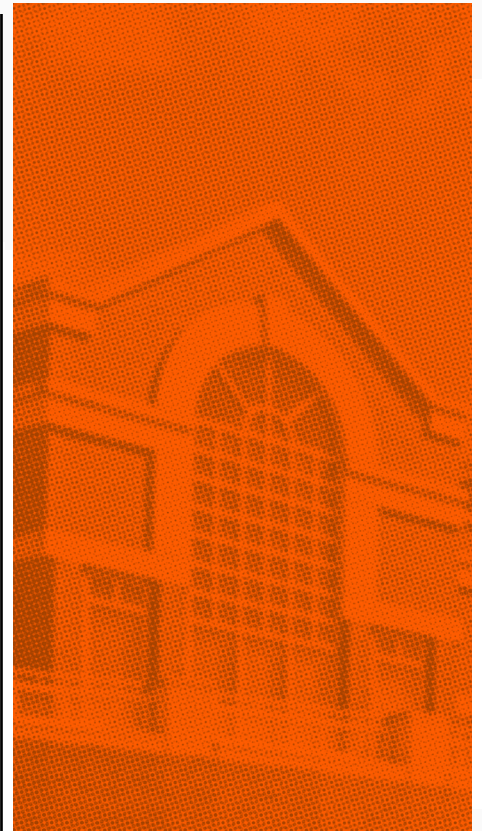

Dr. Lara Sypniewski, Oklahoma State University College of Veterinary Medicine clinical professor, and Dr. Daqing Piao, OSU School of Electrical and Computer Engineering professor, conducted a research study on photobiomodulation therapy (PBMT), specifically on the effectiveness of delivering treatment light to the spinal cord.

READ MORE

OSU researchers tackling wildfire risks linked to electrical infrastructure

Hamid Nazaripouya of Oklahoma State University's CEAT has recently been funded by NASA for his project aiming to advance power grid and pre-fire situational awareness by integrating fire-ignition electrical fault data with high-resolution Earth observations of ecological and biophysical factors.

READ MORE

Free training offered for volunteer firefighters through CEAT's Fire Service Training Program

The College of Engineering, Architecture and Technology is excited to announce that its Fire Service Training program will offer free training for volunteer firefighters. This initiative is made possible through a Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response grant from FEMA.

WATCH HERE

How to win people over to your way of thinking

Learn from Heather Yates, professor in the Division of Engineering Technology, on effective intrapersonal communication.

Facebook

X

Instagram

Linkedin

More Stories

Give Now

Contact Us

READ MORE

CEAT alumnus Kerry Havner publishes new book

At the age of 90 Kerry S. Havner, an alumnus from CIVE, has published his second advanced book in Engineering Sciences.

READ MORE

In honor and memory of Harold Mace

CEAT mourns the passing of Fire Protection Publications Emeritus Director Harold Mace.

Senior Design Expo coming soon!

We hope you will join us for our Fall 2024 Senior Design Expo taking place from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Nov. 22, at ENDEAVOR Lab.